DETAILED ACTION

Claim Objections

1. Claims 8 and 9 objection is withdrawn.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

2. The 35 U.S.C. 112 rejections to claims 13 and 23 have been withdrawn in view of the Applicants amendment.

Response to Arguments

3. Applicant's arguments filed 03/11/2008 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

6. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

7. Claims 1, 5, 10-13, 15-16, 18-23, 25-26, and 28-29 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Us Pub. 2001/0029194 A1 to Ketola et al. in view of US Pub. 2002/0087665 A1 to Marshall et al.

Regarding claims 1, 5, 10, 15, 20, and 25, Ketola discloses mobile communications device comprising a controller (see fig 1) and a method of operating a mobile communications device, the method comprising: in response to an application start event (pars. 10-12), the application start event being an event of starting an application, determining if the application start event is associated with a reminder item stored in a memory (par. 6), and in response to a positive determination, controlling the device to announce the reminder item (par. 12).

However, Ketola fails to disclose determining if there is correspondence in one of the following: an identifier associated with the application at the time of the application start event and relating to a device or resource address, a sub-routine or a device setting and identifier forming part of the reminder item.

Marshall discloses an identifier associated with the application at the time of the application start event and relating to a device or resource address, a sub-routine or a device setting and identifier forming part of the reminder item (pars. 38, 40-42, 44-45 and 53).

Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to modify the invention of Ketola and have an identifier associated with the application at the time of the application start event and relating to a device or resource address, a sub-routine or a device setting and identifier forming part of the reminder item.

Regarding claims 11-12, and 21-22, the combination of Ketola and Marshall discloses a method as claimed in claim 10, in which the controlling step includes, following controlling the device to allow a user to select an application, controlling the device to present plural options including an option to initiate an application start event reminder (Ketola see fig. 4 steps 50-51).

Regarding claims 13, and 23, the combination of Ketola and Marshall discloses a method as claimed in claim 10, further comprising controlling the device to allow a user to enter an additional input, and associating the input with the reminder (par. 10).

Regarding claims 16, 18-19, 26, and 28-29, the combination of Ketola and Marshall discloses in response to an application start event, determining if the event is associated with a reminder stored in the memory, and, in the event of a positive determination, determining also if there is correspondence between an identifier associated with the application at the time of the application start event and relating to a device or resource address, a sub-routine or a device setting and identifier forming part of the reminder item, and controlling the device to announce the reminder item (Ketola, see fig. 4 step 51, and par. 12) (Marshall, see figs. 2, and 5, pars. 38, 40-42, 44-45 and 53).

Conclusion

8. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
